"All right, Bill -
You can stop reading 'em"

BILL TOLD ME
HE HAD A good job.
ON THE maker.
OF A well-known brand.
OF CIGARETTES.
LAST NIGHT, Bill said.
HE READ an ad.
OF THIS cigarette.
IN A magazine.
IT SAID "They Satisfy."
AND THIS morning.
IN HIS newspaper.
HE READ "They Satisfy."
AND ON A billboard,
AND ON A card.
IN THE street-car,
AND IN the dealer's window,
AND ON the counter.
HE READ "They Satisfy."
AND HE bought a pack.
OF THESE cigarettes,
AND I asked him,
"WHERE'S THE JOKE, BILL?"
AND BILL said,
"WHY THE darn fools.
SPENDING THEIR money,
PICKING ON me."
SO I said, "You bought 'em.
DIDN'T THEY satisfy?"
AND BILL said "Sure,
BUT HERE'S the joke.
FOR OVER A year,
I'D ALREADY been smoking
THAT BRAND."

WE admit it, the joke's on us. And over three million other smokers are "in on it" with Bill. But the real joke is on anybody who looks for "Satisfy" anywhere but in Chesterfields—for the Chesterfield blend can't be copied!

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

To ascertain what each maker offers one must analyze and test some 200 tires—as our laboratories have done.

Then it is a matter of combining the best features and building according to the highest standards.

Once you try a Brunswick you will understand how we have built model tires, regardless of factory expense.

Yet Brunswick Tires cost you the same as other like-type tires. Our saving is on selling cost, through our nation-wide organization.

We realize that you expect more from Brunswicks, and we assure you that you get it. ONE Brunswick will tell you the story.

And then you'll want ALL Brunswicks. No other tire, you'll agree, gives so much for your money.

POLITICS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 4.—Former Governor Frank B. Willis, candidate for United States senator, in successful Harding was in Columbus Monday conferring with S. M. Miller, manager of the Willis headquarters. Following the conference Mr. Miller issued the following statement:

"Reports coming from all sections are most gratifying. In his tour of various portions of the state last week Willis not only aroused all of the old time enthusiasm, which is always his strength in the rural districts, but there was every evidence of marked gains in the cities. In Hamilton county Willis was personally assured the largest primary vote ever accorded him.

"As the result of certain opposition, the records of past elections have been consulted, with the discovery that the records disclose Willis to be the surest vote getter of the several candidates for United States senator. His past achievement of invariably carrying counties normally Democratic has appealed strongly to county candidates who are rallying to his support."

This will be a busy week for Willis. The first several days will be spent in the Eastern Ohio river counties and the counties immediately west. The latter part of the week will find him back in the central west. He has received an invitation to close the campaign in Cleveland, which he will likely accept.

Willis reported that the League of Nations is proving the paramount issue in the campaign. Audiences, he said, give every evidence of this fact. "I have found," he said, "this to be the case in New York state as well as in Hamilton, Cuyahoga, Jackson, Mahoning, Green Putnam and other counties which I visited last week. The people manifest uniform disapproval of the covenant as brought back from Paris by the president. In common with Senator Harding, I believe that the United States should and will discharge to the full its obligations to the rest of the world, but the audiences which I have addressed do not believe that it is either our duty or our business to meddle in the affairs of all the little European and Asiatic nations that are now at war with one another."

In reference to the progress of his campaign, Willis said: "I am confident of being nominated. Republicans who in previous primaries have opposed me are giving personal assurance, voluntarily of their support. These personal assurances have occurred in practically every city I have visited and especially so in Cincinnati, where prominent Republicans offered their support. I have every reason to believe that Hamilton county will give the entire Republican ticket sweeping majorities in November and I expect to be on the ticket."

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 4.—Walter Brown, of Toledo, Republican political candidate, spent a busy conference with Republicans in Sandusky. Northern Ohio he spent the afternoon in Cleveland, held an evening session in Sandusky this evening and met a number of Republicans from all parts of Erie county tonight. At the conclusion of the conference in Sandusky, R. C. Snyder, publisher of the Norwalk Reflector Herald issued a statement in which he said: "For three hours today Walter F. Brown conferred with scores of Republicans from all over Huron county. It was significant that men called on him from practically every township in the county, farmers, railroad men, laboring men and business men composed the personnel and there was unanimity of opinion that Brown will carry Huron county in the primary. The sentiment that prevails here is that the nomination of Walter Brown will add strength to the republican ticket in Ohio this fall."

Mr. Brown will visit Tuscarawas county tomorrow and will address a meeting at Marietta tomorrow night.

SELLS "GAS" ON SUNDAY; BOUND OVER

HINTON, Aug. 1.—Henry Paul, business man was bound over to the grand jury today by Mayor C. W. Campbell, ex officio magistrain, on a charge of having sold running on Sunday. Paul owns a garage at Thirtieth street and Adams avenue.

What's become of the prejudice against automobiles because they frightened the horses

NOW cars are everywhere. The horses have gotten used to them—and so has everybody else. Think of it! This year the American people will spend nearly a billion dollars on tires alone.

Tires are one of the biggest items on the car owner's bills.

Hardly a Saturday, when you motorists drop in to "tune up" for a Sunday trip, that one or more of you doesn't tell us something of value to our business. Sooner or later it comes back to you in service.

Service is what the car owners of this community are looking for nowadays.

And especially the small car owners, who put service first in figuring their motorizing expenditures.

Just because a man has a moderate-price car is no reason why he should get any less service out of his tires.

We believe that the man with the small car is entitled to just as good tire service as the man with the big car—and both are entitled to the best tire service they can get.

That's why we represent U. S. Tires in this community.

And why more car owners—large and small—are coming to us every day for U. S. Tires.

Come in and talk to us about tires. We're here to help you get the kind of tires you want.

Verdict Against Belcher
HONOLULU, Aug. 4—Four eye witnesses of the tragedy at Sheridan, in which General L. Chatfield, widely known merchant of that place, was shot and killed last Friday evening, testified at the coroner's inquest held in the office of Probate Judge Roberts.

At the conclusion of the evidence given by twelve of the fifteen witnesses summoned, Dr. Wilson Lynd, county coroner, gave his decision that "G. L. Chatfield came to his death from gunshot wounds inflicted by Harry Belcher."

The eye witnesses of the affair were Lucy Frazer, Louis Thompson, Mrs. Harry Belcher, wife of the gun user and James Belcher, young brother of the confessed slayer. The testimony brought out the fact that General Chatfield was armed at the time of the shooting. The 32 calibre revolver that he was carrying fell from his pocket and was taken in charge by Sam Jones, of Sheridan, then turned over to the county of Hawaii.

5% CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT 5% AND SAFETY

Everyone who has money to invest, whether it be much or little, wants to know that it is safe. He wants to know that the institution where he deposits his money is strong. Further, he wants to know why. And this is why:

SOUND POLICY

Since the organization of the Royal Savings and Loan Company in 1890, it has been the policy of its directors to build up a company which would be a strong, solid and respected financial institution, where you will know that your money is invested wisely and properly safeguarded. This sound policy has built up a company leaving more than $1,450,000.00 assets.

MORTGAGE SECURITY

The securities of this company are conservative first mortgage loans on homes and business properties in Portsmouth and vicinity, where we know values. Located within easy reach it is possible for our own officers to inspect and appraise each property loaned on and carefully watch all investments.

We make no loans in distant parts where we have to trust to the knowledge of other people who may be incompetent or not interested in the welfare of the Royal.

All our loans are on the weekly payment plan which constantly reduces the loan and correspondingly increases the security. The whole property is retained as security until the loan is entirely paid off.

Our resources consist almost entirely of these select first mortgages. Deposits have a first claim on our entire resources.

SURPLUS

Everybody knows that such loans in a growing and progressive community like Portsmouth and Scioto county are one of the safest forms of investment known, but, as a protection against any loss, the laws of Ohio require that a certain percentage of the net profits shall be set aside annually in the Reserve Fund.

This company has always been conducted economically. The officers and directors have given much valuable time for minimum pay, and all other expenses have been kept low with the result that the Reserve and Undivided Profit Funds have grown steadily until it now amounts to $52,424.83.

NO COMMISSIONS

No commissions are charged for making loans. We think this is a good rule. When commissions are paid by borrowers to an agent, the tendency is to grant too high a loan in order to get commission.

APPRAISMENTS

Our appraisements are carefully made by men experienced in real estate values. All loans are made in territory in and surrounding Portsmouth, and our own appraisers who are Directors of the Company personally inspect each property and appraise it at its actual value. Conservative appraisements are a very important factor in loaning money.

INSURANCE

All our loans on buildings are amply protected by fire insurance policies kept in our vaults with fire loss payable to the Company.

Adequate insurance against burglary, hold-up and robbery is also carried by the Company.

BONDS

All officers and employees are each bonded by one of the strongest Bonding Companies and in an amount sufficient to fully protect the Company and its depositors.

STATE SUPERVISION

The State Department of Building and Loan Associations makes frequent and rigid examinations of every detail of our business. These examinations are conducted with much thoroughness.

INTEREST RATE

Interest at five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually is paid on Certificates of Deposit. Interest check is mailed to you each six months from date of deposit. These Certificates are self-renewing.

Interest at four per cent per annum, compounded quarterly is paid on Savings Deposits of one dollar or more.

Deposits or withdrawals may be made by mail. To make deposit send Check, New York Draft, Postal or Express Money Order and we will send you Certificate, or Passbook with proper credit if deposit is in a Savings Account.

DIRECTORS

The Directors of the Company are all men of experience and standing. They have spared neither time nor effort and omitted no detail which would improve the service of the Company and conduce to the safety of your money.

They place at your service this safe and conservative Company and trust that if you have not yet made its acquaintance you will do so soon. Deposits, however small, are welcomed and your business will receive careful, courteous attention.

Scioto County Fair---August 10, 11, 12 and 13 THREE DAYS OF RACING!

The Fair Dates this year are one week earlier than last season which assures a large number of horses. These earlier dates leaves the Scioto County Fair the whole field clear, whereas before Washington, C. H., and other good fairs were strong competitors. So be ready for the greater races.

Don't Miss the Farm Bureau Booth!

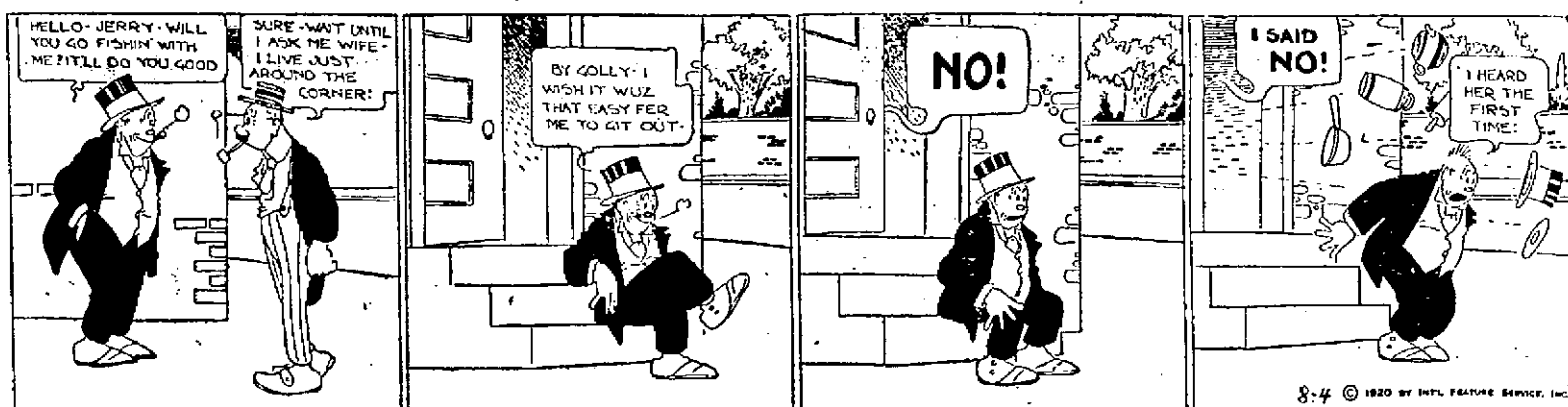

Farmers bring soil samples any day and have them tested for lime requirements. Two actual Scioto County farms will be contrasted by actual growing crops—a good one and a poor one. The farm management department of O. S. U. and the soils department will have special information for you.

A meeting of this kind was held in June at the Otto Zoellner farm, Wheelersburg, and much valuable information changed hands. All farmers in the vicinity of Lombardsville are invited to the meeting.

MISS DOLLY WISE

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Who is the president of Ohio University at Athens? Is it a denominational school?

STUDENT. Alston Ellis is president of Ohio University. No, it is a state school in the same way as Ohio State University at Columbus.

Dear Dolly—I am going away on a trip of some distance which will take me to the southeastern part of the United States. Should I wear a suit and full hat for traveling?

A Girl From Oak Hill. A suit and full hat would be very appropriate, not to say chic, at this time of the year. I would also advise you to take a coat or summer wrap, for you will doubtless need it with your light dresses.

Dear Dolly—We are readers of the Times, and saw in your column your answer in regard to the growth of pineapples. Pineapples do not grow in the manner of bananas, but grow on low plants, and are called pine apple. They grow from sixteen to twenty inches in length and pineapples grow on the end of stalks that come from the center of these plants. Don't you think you had better learn more about tropical fruit before you try to tell others about the way they grow. In our state of Florida there are acres and acres of pine apple plants, and to walk in the rows between these plants is to wear a crown. Sorry to contradict you Dolly, but seeing is believing.

FLORIDA. I bow to superior knowledge and consider myself sufficiently "balled out." But then—you know we can't all travel.

Dear Dolly—I am coming to you for a little advice as I read your column every night and am trying to raise my daughters right. But on our street there is a boy and his wife, and his mother lives with them. Every night the man who broke up his sons' father and mother's home is allowed by this boy to visit his mother at his house until late in the night. Now the neighbors are getting tired of such things in a good residence community. The police don't do a thing. What should we do to stop such happening as we are getting tired of it, and it is the talk of the street.

MOTHER. You must remember that you cannot prove anything, and may have the situation sized up entirely wrong. The only thing you can do is to report the matter to the proper authorities. You selected to say whether the woman was divorced or not. If she is, then she may conventionally receive even the callers, as any one else.

MARSHALL NEILAN PRESENTS The RIVER'S END JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

"The River's End" A Smashing New Story of God's Country, Produced by Marshall Neilan. Is the Extraordinary Attraction at the Strand Tonight and Thursday. You Must Not Miss It.

That was the thought pounding through Keith's brain. He meant to tramp back to civilization—back to face the chief of the Northwest Mounted Police. His uniform, his figure, his face even to the peculiar scar on the forehead—everything about him would not be Keith the fugitive from justice but Constable, the officer of the Royal Mounted who lay dying before him, under the Arctic stars.

Soon he would stand before the chief "whose eyes could see, through boiler-plate"—and before the girl supposed to be his sister—and, then, before Shan Tung, the Chinese mystic who had known the dead officer and who never forgot a face.

In "The River's End," James Oliver Curwood has written a tale of such fire, such romance, such vigor and intrigue and drama and Marshall Neilan has so vividly transferred it to the screen that those who see it will long remember it as one of the brilliant achievements in photo-dramatic literature.

We are sure that you will find this picture to be one of the best you have ever seen in Portsmouth so be on hand at the Strand tonight or Thursday to see it.

Peggy Rebels

"Peggy Rebels," A Comedy Drama of Love and Youth and Laughter With Dainty, Bewitching Mary Miles Minter as the Star. Will be the Attraction at the Eastland Theatre Tonight. An Unusual Picture of Fascinating Beauty.

As a mischievous elf, clad in the rugged serge blouse and trousers of a sailor lad, Mary Miles Minter has a role in "Peggy Rebels" that seems made to order to set off her winsome dimples. In this adaptation of Henry Albert Phillips' charming story, "The Mate of Sally Ann," the star's beauty borrows none of the artificial aids of costume and environment, yet shines all the more gloriously for the contrast.

The tale centers about a girl just budding into womanhood—a girl who has been simply reared by her grandfather, an old sea captain, who has never worn dresses or played with other girls and boys; and who has known no other home than the stranded ship on which the captain had sailed the seven seas in the days of his might.

Other attractions on tomorrow's program include a new Universal comedy and the latest issue of the International News Watch for "The Courage of Marge O'Doone" next week.

Lincoln Big Special Thursday

Dollar Box Feature "Salome" Coming For One Day Only.

A titanic production is Fox's "Salome" which shows at the Lincoln Thursday. It is said to have cost more than a million dollars to stage the spectacular photodrama.

It required a force of 800 men to build the city of Jerusalem.

More than two tons of paint were used on the sets and scenery.

Enough lumber to build a good-sized town was put into construction. Two hundred thousand yards of hurling went into the covering of the buildings.

Nearly an entire menagerie was required for local color: 44 camels, 2,000 horses, 25 donkeys, 20 elephants, goats, sheep, bullocks, oxen, dogs, cats, parrots, doves, and peacocks.

Ten thousand costumes were made for the players.

Here for the day only.

THE WILL NOT LACKING

AS stated in these columns once before the county commissioners have an ambitious program of improvement mapped out for the improvement of the highways generally. While it has the will it has found it impossible to secure the way. In its purpose and enterprise, as in all others, it has found delay unavoidable and from the same cause, lack of labor. Among other betterments the board, for instance, had laid plans for the Mt. Joy road, the West Side pike beyond Lucasville and one or two others on the east side, that it expected to have completed before this date. As a matter of fact, nothing at all has been done with them. The necessary labor was not to be had. The requisite teams and much of the man labor was expected to be drawn from the farms in the immediate neighborhood of the improvements to be made. As a matter of fact, owing to an exceedingly backward season and the scarcity of help on the farms themselves, no aid could be gotten from that source. However, the rush of farm work is about over and the board and the county engineer are hopeful that teams and labor therefrom can be secured within a short time and the prosecution of the improvements rushed forward.

Pretty much the situation gets back to the people most immediately interested. If they can substantially back up the board in its plans the roads of Scioto county will, within the next four months show a material betterment.

ONE AMONG MANY

Governor Morrow, of Kentucky, is to be unreservedly commended for the position he takes on lotting. Recognizing this as a general evil, one that has been at the bottom of the many crimes of violence that have reddened the records of the state, he serves notice upon all local officials, charged with the enforcement of the criminal laws, that no individual, convicted of carrying concealed weapons, will receive, under any circumstances, pardon or commutation of sentence at his hands.

Yes, not only that, but after most forcibly describing the disgrace that the all too universal practice of going armed has worked upon the state, he rebukes the judiciary of high and low degree for their lenient and ineffective way of dealing with the evil. In effect he charges them with condoning it because instead of imposing a severe jail sentence upon offenders, the severest judgment is a more or less nominal fine, a penalty entirely inadequate to break up the practice.

Here we have the pith and substance of efficient criminal laws stated, the imposition of a penalty sufficiently measured to constitute a deterrent and the certainty that the penalty will be exacted in full.

If that view and practice prevailed universally, lawlessness and disorder in this country would be greatly curbed.

A letter from Denver from a Portsmouth visitor, says Colorado is overrun with tourists from the east, who were on their way to California, but were stopped short by reports of earthquakes. The letter also states that it is raining in Denver almost every day. So see what a misfortune to those tourists they did not get alarmed before they got so far west. Here in this Ohio Valley the sun shines day after day in cloudless skies and the breezes blow cool and invigorating, making the most delightful summer climate on earth.

The Times-Star holds Portsmouth up to Cincinnati not only as an example of the interest that should be taken in river improvement, but of the enterprise that at once takes steps to realize on that improvement. Of course, it refers to the plans being laid here by two big plants to facilitate shipments by water.

Guess growing does pay; helps, as it were, to increase itself. Portsmouth is to be one of the eight places in the state where a meeting of the farmers from a number of counties will be held to promote live stock production and essentials thereto better and more profitable methods of stock marketing.

The cable reports a new president elected in Nicaragua. That's genuine news. Ordinarily Nicaragua has a new president about every change of the moon, wished on her by the individual himself.

The employees have got more wages, the railroads have got higher freight rates. Now let us see what effect both combined will have on the transportation system.

Maysville, getting her cue from Portsmouth, is going to have a dam opening soon.

Another revolution afooting in Russia says the cable. And right now the victorious Bolsheviks are within seventy-five miles of Warsaw and moving up.

New York - Day - By - Day

BY A. A. MONTGOMERY

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—

Every one in a while.

I am permitted to select.

The scotties I wear.

And right afterward.

There is a sudden coolness.

In our little family.

And that's that.

So when Karl Kitchen.

Came back from Paris.

Just the other day.

He brought with him.

A fancy little scarf.

That he picked up.

On the Rue de la Paix.

And in the language of Keats.

It was a lola-pallora.

It had all the noise.

Of a rattling machine.

And the dash of a runaway.

Down Main street.

And when I put it on.

My dog took one look.

And ran out in the hall.

And barked for help.

And I got in the elevator.

And it dropped three floors.

Before the operator.

Regained consciousness.

And it was a foggy morning.

But the blind news man.

At the subway corner.

Remarked as I passed.

That he was glad the sun.

Was out shining again.

And all the way down town.

I felt as conspicuous.

As Kliti Gordon's back.

And a smart aleck sitting.

Across the aisle from me.

Put on smoked glasses.

And everybody tittered.

And by this time.

I had reached Wall Street.

I had my coat collar.

Turned up to hide it.

And when I met my wife.

I decided to be brave.

And expose my shame.

So I put down my collar.

And she looked at the tie.

And said it was pretty.

And I knew what it meant.

And took her up town.

And bought it for her.

Isn't that like a woman?

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

LINDSEY SIGNS A VERY GOOD CONTRACT

July 20—Hatter than ever today. Time for sailing drawing very near now. Working harder than ever, and enjoying same.

Wondering will never cease, in my young life at least. Today Mr. Houde called me in and after complimenting me on the work I had been doing asked me to sign a contract, covering a year, and at a fairly good salary. My two months abroad to be paid for by the teacher, and work sent back if possible. Can you beat it? I was that overcome and flattered, that I fear my mouth dropped open in wonder. But all my senses worked at once, and instinct (that precious framing possession) came to my rescue, and knowing that there would be many an argument pro and con, if I were to hesitate, and take this contract home, before signing it, I took the bull by the horns, and wrote in my name to that glorious contract with a firm hand.

Now, come what may, my immediate future is assured. It's a grand feeling I can tell you.

Roger Waring and I were out on a sketch party together and we celebrated the good news for an hour or two. He told me that I ought to be proud, for it wasn't often that "The Teacher" told so hard for any one.

After I was through with my work I slipped up to Jean's brand new studio apartment, in the Village, and told her the good tidings. Found her and Harvey first in each other's smiles, and fairly had to tear them apart, if you can understand that. Of course they were just as delighted as I was myself and so glad that no matter how stupidly I was tied up within the next few months I was assured of economic independence. (And how we do love that phrase, all of us!)

Those two birds (birds is for short) have the cutest place imaginable. It's down on Barrow street and at the top of one of those dear little made-over houses that spring up from day to day in the Village and cost a hundred dollars a thought or something like that. The three rooms are all done in old blue and gold, and mostly decorated by the hand of Jean, I know. Even the family victrola is a modest blue and orange, and looks so used and fashionable and jolly, somehow.

Jean made the orange window curtains, and the furniture is also hand-made and painted by the Village artist. Oh, it's too lovely for words. The kitchenette is as big as a pocket handkerchief, and bristles with new pots, etc. I see Jean is going to feed her newly acquired brute well in spite of being an artist. Sensible girl.

Harvey goes to his business regular every morning, just as though they were living in the Bronx and he was a commuter, and Jean gets her breakfast. She is not a bit ashamed of same, either. Told me that matrimony helps one to laugh at a lot of silly theories, etc. I wonder.

Several people drifted in during the afternoon, and we had a grand reunion. Just as if none of us was engaged, married or contracted for months to come.

I called up my old Jack from there (yes they have a brand new telephone and everything) and told him that I had some wonderful news for him, and to be sure to come around at eight o'clock. He was all excitement and told me, incidentally that his mother had written a long and affectionate letter to Laura, telling her to come

WHO'S WHO In The Days Name

PARLEY P. CHRISTENSEN

Parley P. Christensen, who got the third party nomination at Chicago, may not get many votes this fall, but he certainly will be an entertaining sort of a campaigner. Folks who know Christensen out in Salt Lake City declare that he is one of the most likeable fellows in the whole country, and anybody who thinks that he will open his meetings by throwing a brick through the plate glass window of the First National bank and close it by shining up a lamp-post and waving a red flag is all wrong.

The candidate stands more than six feet three inches and is described as being almost as bulky as the late Ollie James. For years he has been a power in the Elks lodge, and at one time or another has held high office in the organization. He is a bachelor. Called upon to make a speech at any time or place, he can deliver the goods right off hand.

So often has Christensen changed parties that he has friends in all of them. He started out to be a Republican, and at one time became a county prosecutor and later a secretary of a Republican state committee. Switching to the Progressive party, he went to the legislature, and there was a candidate for speaker. However, he was not elected, and on that occasion he quitted, refusing to lead his presence to that dignified body for several weeks after he was beaten. But he got over that. Democrats, out in Utah thought until recently that he was one of their number but he never quitted with them. His nomination by the new party was somewhat of a surprise to his friends in the old parties.

It is certain that there never will be a scandal about Christensen's personal contributions to his own campaign fund. He has no money to speak of. Incidentally, he was named after a Mormon apostle.

AFRICAN ATTITUDE TOWARD WORK

The African male has peculiar ideas of his own dignity where work is concerned. He will work for a white man but he will never do anything for himself if there are any women about. It is beneath his dignity to work. He will fish and hunt, make nets and crude implements and canoes, or pass away his time smoking strong tobacco and doing, but he would not think of lending his wife a helping hand. He compels her to cut down the trees for firewood and for his dugout canoes, and when they arrive at the spot in the forest or jungle where he decides to build his town the women must clear away the tangled forest. To civilized minds tree felling, wood carrying and jungle clearing are certainly laborious work for women, but an African woman knows nothing else, yet here are much more healthful tasks than the white woman's.

right home and be used, etc.

Mollery are that way! He also thanked me for helping Laura to do as she wanted, for she said she had seen few miserable at home for the first few weeks although she had not confided the reasons for same to anyone.

Jean and Harvey sleep on the best and most romantic altar. It's very low and broad and covered with a dark blue velvet cover, and has gold and orange cushions on its smooth surface. Reminds one of something in "The Arabian Nights." It does one good to see how happy they are. (To be continued.)

Smile And Win

It will not suffice to keep smiling: It will not quite serve to be gay, it's never enough to slug out: "I'm the stuff." "I'll win—if you give me my way." "You're got to stand up to disaster. Defeated, your courage renew: Then say with a grin that means business: 'I'll win in spite of the worst you can do'."

The world loves a speller—that's granted: But sometimes the world, without fear, is quick to surmise that his anger won't rise.

So hands him a poke in the ear: Then if he keeps lugubrously smiling: "You takes in his humor a tuck. The world will declare: 'Silence he seems not to care, I'll wait him another for luck.'"

Keep grinning! Oh, yes, be as cheery as ever you wish to the world: But show that beneath is a full set of teeth.

To back up and bolster the smile: Remind the old world, that you're ready.

To fight to the end of the war: The world then—no myth!—you will get to smile with you.

That might have smiled at you before: He must have been Henry.

The meeting was interrupted by the entrance of one who made his way to the platform and whispered excitedly to the chairman.

"Is Mr. Smith in the audience?" broke forth the presiding officer. "I am informed that his house is afire."

Forty men sprang to their feet. "It is the house of Mr. John Smith," called the chairman.

"Thank goodness!" fervently exclaimed one man, resuming his seat.

BY CLIFF STERRETT

BILLY WHISKER

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

"Hang on, you Flobe!" young Oberbipp cried as the dog, now full of courage because he was under his own table, grabbed Billy by the nose. Shake his head as hard as he might, Billy could not loosen Flobe's, or Flobe, as his name would be called in English, so he reared—straight up, and the table began to dance across the room toward the father of the family, while Frau Oberbipp and Greta screamed louder than ever. Herr Oberbipp was just getting out of the tub when the table got over to him, and he made a grab at it when Billy gave an extra strong jump. The table over-turned, and all the breakfast things, with a mighty crash of dishes, slid on Herr Oberbipp and knocked him back in the tub again. By this time Billy had unfurled the grip of Flobe from his nose and had leaped that helping dog into the bottom of the tall clock case; then Billy started for the door, but Herr Oberbipp was already willing to Caspar not to let him out.

"Grab him, Caspar! Hold him!" yelled the man. "He is a nice young goat. He spoils our breakfast and we make a dinner of him!"

When Billy heard that, he was more anxious than ever to get out, but Caspar had slammed the door shut, and Billy, seeing it closed, tried to butt it down. The door was too strong and Billy grew desperate. Caspar ran after him and Billy suddenly turned, running under Caspar's legs and forgetting him over; then he made for the window, meaning to go through it, splash and all. But Caspar had already jumped up, and as the goat went through a pane of glass, Caspar grabbed him by the hind legs and held him, while Billy, fairly caught and poked in between the window bars, could only struggle with his fore feet.

Herr Oberbipp in the meantime got himself out of the tub of water, took the butter out of his hair, and the mush out of his shirt front, untangled himself from the tablecloth, wiped the coffee from his face and ran outside, where he grabbed Billy by the horns and pulled him on through the window. Herr Oberbipp was a big, strong man.

"Grab him, Caspar! Hold him!" yelled the man. "He is a nice young goat. He spoils our breakfast and we make a dinner of him!"

When Billy heard that, he was more anxious than ever to get out, but Caspar had slammed the door shut, and Billy, seeing it closed, tried to butt it down. The door was too strong and Billy grew desperate. Caspar ran after him and Billy suddenly turned, running under Caspar's legs and forgetting him over; then he made for the window, meaning to go through it, splash and all. But Caspar had already jumped up, and as the goat went through a pane of glass, Caspar grabbed him by the hind legs and held him, while Billy, fairly caught and poked in between the window bars, could only struggle with his fore feet.

Herr Oberbipp in the meantime got himself out of the tub of water, took the butter out of his hair, and the mush out of his shirt front, untangled himself from the tablecloth, wiped the coffee from his face and ran outside, where he grabbed Billy by the horns and pulled him on through the window. Herr Oberbipp was a big, strong man.

"Grab him, Caspar! Hold him!" yelled the man. "He is a nice young goat. He spoils our breakfast and we make a dinner of him!"

THE WILL NOT LACKING

As stated in these columns once before the county commissioners have an ambitious program of improvement mapped out for the improvement of the highways generally. While it has the will it has found it impossible to secure the way. In its purpose and enterprise, as in all others, it has found delay unavoidable and from the same cause, lack of labor.

Among other betterments the board, for instance, had laid plans for the Mr. Joy road, the West Side pike beyond Lucasville and one or two others on the east side, that it expected to have completed before this date. As a matter of fact, nothing at all has been done with them. The necessary labor was not to be had. The requisite teams and much of the man labor was expected to be drawn from the farms in the immediate neighborhood of the improvements to be made. As a matter of fact, owing to an exceedingly backward season and the scarcity of help on the farms themselves, no aid could be gotten from that source. However, the rush of farm work is about over and the board and the county engineer are hopeful that teams and labor therefrom can be secured within a short time and the prosecution of the improvements pushed forward.

Pretty much the situation gets back to the people most immediately interested. If they can substantially back up the board in its plans the roads of Scioto county will, within the next four months show a material betterment.

ONE AMONG MANY

GOVERNOR MORROW, of Kentucky, is to be unreservedly commended for the position he takes on gun totting.

Recognizing this as a general evil, one that has been at the bottom of the many crimes of violence that have reddened the records of the state, he serves notice upon all local officials, charged with the enforcement of the criminal laws, that no individual, convicted of carrying concealed weapons, will receive, under any circumstances, pardon or commutation of sentence at his hands.

Yes, not only that, but after most forcibly describing the disgrace that the all too universal practice of going armed has worked upon the state, he rebukes the judiciary of high and low degree for their lenient and ineffective way of dealing with the evil. In effect he charges them with condoning it because instead of imposing a severe jail sentence upon offenders, the severest judgment is a mere or less nominal fine, a penalty entirely inadequate to break up the practice.

Here we have the pith and substance of efficient criminal laws stated, the imposition of a penalty sufficiently measured to constitute a deterrent and the certainty that the penalty will be exacted in full.

If that view and practice prevailed universally, lawlessness and disorder in this country would be greatly curbed.

A letter from Denver from a Portsmouth visitor, says Colorado is overrun with tourists from the east, who were on their way to California, but were stopped short by reports of earthquakes. The letter also states that it is raining in Denver almost every day. So what a misfortune to those tourists they did not get alarmed before they got so far west. Here in this Ohio Valley the sun shines day after day in cloudless skies and the breezes blow cool and invigorating, making the most delightful summer climate on earth.

The Times-Star holds Portsmouth up to Cincinnati not only as an example of the interest that should be taken in river improvement, but of the enterprise that at once takes steps to realize on that improvement. Of course, it refers to the plans being laid out by two big plants to facilitate shipments by water.

Guess growing dues pay helps, as it were, to increase itself. Portsmouth is to be one of the eight places in the state where a meeting of the farmers from a number of counties will be held to promote live stock production and essentials thereto better and more profitable methods of stock marketing.

The cable reports a new president elected in Nicaragua. That's genuine news. Ordinarily Nicaragua has a new president about every change of the moon, wished on her by the individual in itself.

The employees have got more wages, the railroads have got higher freight rates. Now let us see what effect both combined will have on the transportation system.

Mayville, getting her cue from Portsmouth, is going to have a dam opening soon. By the way, did a single distinguished citizen from Mayville attend our celebration?

Nather revolution abounding in Russia says the cable. And now the victorious Bolsheviks are within seventy-five miles of Warsaw and moving up.

And ran out in the hall.

And barked for help.

And I got in the elevator.

The Diary of an Engaged Girl

LINDSEY SIGNS A VERY GOOD CONTRACT

July 26—Hatter than ever today. Time for sailing drawing very near now. Working harder than ever, and enjoying same.

Wonders will never cease in my young life at least. Today Mr. Roeder called me in and after complimenting me on the work I had been doing asked me to sign a contract, covering a year, and at a jolly good salary. My two months' salary to be paid for by the Lender, and work sent back if possible. Can you beat it? I was that overcome and flustered, that I fear my mouth dropped open in wonder. But all my senses worked at once, and instinct (that precious feminine possession) came to my rescue, and knowing that there would be many an argument you and con. if I were to hesitate, and take this contract home, before signing it, I took the bull by the horns, and wrote in my name to that glorious contract with a firm hand.

Now, come what may, my immediate future is assured. It's a grand feeling I can tell you.

Roger Waring and I were out on a sketch party together and we celebrated the good news for an hour or two. He told me that I ought to be proud, for it wasn't often that The Leader fell so hard for any one.

After I was through with my work I slipped up to Jean's brand new studio apartment. In the Village, and told her the good tidings. Found her and Harvey lost in each other's smiles, and fairly had to tear them apart, if you can understand that. Of course they were just as delighted as I was myself and so glad that no matter how tighty I was tied up within the next few months, I was assured of economic independence. (And how we do love this phrase, all of us!)

Those two birds (birds is for short) have the cutest place imaginable. It's down on Murray street and at the top of one of those dear little made-over houses that spring up from day to day in the Village and cost a hundred dollars a thought or something like that. The three rooms are all done in old blue and gold, and mostly decorated by the hand of Jean. I know. Even the family vicrola is a modest blue and orange, and looks so used, and lusty, and jolly, somehow.

Jean made the orange window curtains, and the furniture is also hand-made and painted by the Village artist. Oh, it's too lovely for words. The kitchenette is as big as a pocket handkerchief, and bristles with new pots, etc. I see Jean is going to feed her newly acquired brute well in spite of being an artist, sensible girl.

Harvey goes to his business regular every morning, just as though they were living in the Bronx and he was a commuter, and Jean gets his breakfast. She is not a bit ashamed of same, either. Told me that matrimony helps one to laugh at a lot of silly theories, etc. I wonder.

Several people drifted in during the afternoon, and we had a grand reunion. Just as if none of us was engaged, married or contracted for months to come.

I called up my old Jack from three times they have a brand new telephone and everything) and told him that I had some wonderful news for him, and he was sure to come around at eight o'clock. He was all excitement and told me, incidentally that his mother had written a long and affectionate letter to Laura, telling her to come

CHILLICOTHE, O., August 4.—Though the occupants fortunately escaped injury, the roadster of C. E. Straubach, 31 South Broadway street, was so badly damaged in an accident, yesterday afternoon, on the Marietta pike, that it will cost about $700 to put it in shape again.

Straubach and a woman companion had gone for a spin in the country and while travelling along a stretch of freshly gravelled pike Straubach, who was driving, attempted to pass a machine ahead him. The car skidded, turned over twice, and clashed into a fence at the side of the road. Aside from a few smacking up and painful bruises, the occupants were undamaged.

BRIDGTON, Feb. 24.—Four persons were taken Friday, Louis Thompson, one of the shooting. The names of the others are—Mrs. Harry Decker, wife of the gun law revolver that he was carrying about him; a man named Smith and James Decker, young from his pocket and was taken last night. The man was brother of the confessed slayer. The charge by Sam Jones, of New Bedford, was that the shooting had been thought and the fact that then turned over to the county. He said that the man who had been shot had been armed at the time.
